THE POWER WASHER ENGINE

Lowe's only offers models that use Briggs & Stratton and Honda engines. These are names synonymous with reliability and performance. They are easy to start, have a long life and best of all give you the ability to go out and get the job done.

Engines have traditionally been rated by HP. Now there is a better way to measure an engine's performance. Engines come in different sizes.

CCs is the displacement of the engine. This helps to identify the relative size of the engine.

Torque is the immediate twisting force required to turn the pump. It is the way to measure the rotational force that pumps the water. More ccs and more torque mean the pump on your pressure washer can create higher PSI and GPM for improved cleaning performance.

APPLYING DETERGENTS

All Lowe's pressure washers have the ability to apply cleaning detergents, in low-pressure, to help break down stubborn dirt.

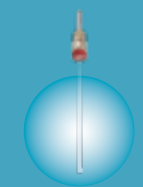

You can simply insert a siphon hose into a detergent container, attach the low-pressure tip and squeeze the gun to launch soap onto any surface type. Let the soap go to work and in 5-10 minutes easily spray off years of unsightly dirt.

A variety of specially formulated cleaning detergents are available that will help you with any project.

SPRAY CHOICES

Quick Connect spray tips allow you to easily change tips so you can use the tip that is right for each project. Each tip has unique pressure and flow settings that are optimized for each project type.

FIRST THE BASICS

Pressure Washers are measured by both pressure (PSI) and water flow (GPM).

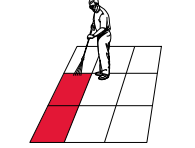

PSI is the water pressure developed, measured in pounds per square inch. It is what gives you the power to penetrate dirt and grime.

GPM is the water flow delivered to the spray gun, measured in gallons per minute. It gives you the power to break down the dirt and wash it away.
